PTI ■ WASHINGTON

With India being often described as 'the bright spot in the global economy,' Reserve Bank Governor Raghuram Rajan sees this as a case of 'the one-eyed man being king in the land of the blind.' Amid gloomy global economic conditions, Indian economy has been described by many as one of the few bright spots, including by IMF, while RBI under Rajan has also been credited with necessary steps to minimise the impact of external shocks on the country's financial system.

"I think we have still to get to a place where we feel satisfied. We have this saying - 'In the land of the blind, the one-eyed man is king.' We are a little bit that way," Rajan said when asked for

Mumbai can adopt Shanghai model for mass housing, says Fadnavis

The three-days BRICS Friendship Cities Summit here. He also said the partner countries need to share the best practices implemented by them in various fields like transport, security and mass housing among others. Fadnavis said his government is considering roping in expertise from St Petersburg in Russia to clean up the sluggish Mithi river (in Mumbai) and make it navigable.

"Like South Africa, we are also facing the challenge of safety and security. We can therefore adopt the model being implemented by the country to combat threats to security. Similarly, there is a lot to learn from the Minha Casa, Minha Vida program of Brazil to promote social housing," he added. PTI

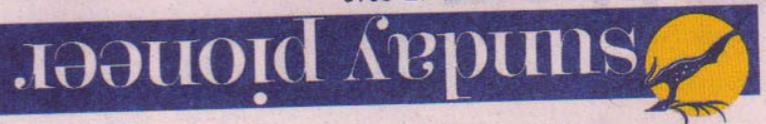

MUMBAI: With the megapolis facing a massive challenge of growing population and urbanisation, Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis on Saturday said there is a lot to learn from Shanghai, which has been able to tackle the issue of mass housing.

"We have a lot to learn from our partner countries -- Brazil, Russia, China and South Africa. Mumbai is facing a problem of urbanisation and growing population. We have seen how Shanghai has been able to tackle the problem of mass housing and I believe we can learn from that model and implement in Mumbai to solve its problem of providing affordable housing," Fadnavis said at the concluding session of

WHAT A RELIEF, FINALLY

Aided institute staff promised their due after salary being withheld for months

● BHAVNA UCHIL
Mumbai

For the past two years, 2,500 staffers of over 45 aided technical institutes in the State had been fighting for their right to full salary. The State Government has now proposed to release full salaries to these teachers and non-teaching staff.

"Some officials referred the matter to the state's finance minister Sudhir Mungantiwar," said Sudhir Vadvalkar, Principal, Nanded Pharmacy College. "We were invited by the Higher and Technical Education department to discuss the matter," he added.

Vadvalkar was one among five aided college principals who had come to meet Vinod Tawde, Minister for Higher and Technical Education on Monday. "The issue is now resolved. The department has agreed to pay us our full salaries by of fine mode upto March 31 and thereafter from April 1 by online mode, which it had refused to do till March this year," Vadvalkar said.

"The pending salary will also be paid to us, along with the salary hike revisions that were pending," he added.

The Free Press Journal had reported that a lecturer of an aided pharmacy college in Nanded had gone on a one-day hunger strike (April 2, 2016; Unpaid for eight months, lecturer goes 'hungry')

This paper had also reported the incident where 40 principals of these institutes from all over Maharashtra, who had come to the Directorate of Technical Education office in the city to press for their full salaries, were left waiting hours, but to no avail.

The government has also agreed to enhance the grants given for operational expenses of these institutes to the tune of 5% of salary expenses of the preceding year of the implementation of 6th pay commission.

FPJ IMPACT

The Free Press Journal had reported that a lecturer of an aided pharmacy college in Nanded had gone on a one-day hunger strike (April 2, 2016; Unpaid for eight months, lecturer goes 'hungry')

As per a government resolution of May 18, 1978, grants will be reimbursed to the extent of 90% of budget estimates of an institute. But the directorate of Technical Education (DTE) used to reimburse 90% of actual expenses, not taking into account expenses such as medical expenses, leave encashment, etc. The institutes were demanding to be reimbursed as per budget estimates which always includes these expenses and are higher than actual expenses.

Subhash Mahajan, Director, DTE who was present at the meeting chaired by Education Minister Vinod Tawde said that an oral consent has been given to disburse full salary and resolve other grievances. The matter has to go through a procedure and a government resolution can be expected by the end of the month, he added.

P A Naik, Joint Director, DTE, Dr. Kiran Patil, Deputy Secretary, Technical Education were also present at the meeting.

From April 2015 the staff of aided technical institutes in the state had started getting salary through the online mode under the government's Sevath system of online salary payments.

Till April 2015, when the DTE paid these institutes a lump sum amount in manual mode on a quarterly basis, any differences in salary disbursements were adjusted in the next quarter. But since the online system began last year, such discrepancies could not be adjusted.

The DTE also misinterpreted a government resolution of 1978 and said that it is liable to give only 90% of staff salaries. Earlier salaries were paid to the extent of 100%.

To recover the excess 10% salary it had paid to staff over the years, the DTE withheld their salaries. Due to this, their salary had been pending for the past five to eight months.

67-YEAR OLD WOMAN DROWNS

● STAFF REPORTER
Mumbai

A 67 year old woman was found drowned at the Girgaum Chowpatty beach on Friday evening.

She had left from her house saying she was going to a temple. Police sources said that the woman, Hansa Gagliani was staying with her family at Gamdevi and had recently undergone an eye operation.

After her recovery, she said she wanted to go to a temple and then missing after that. Her body was later found in the water at the beach area and the police was informed about this.

A senior officer from Malabar Hill Police Station said that this is a case of drowning and they are making further inquiries into the case.

5 Maharashtra priests booked for attack on woman activist

Kolhapur (Maharashtra)

The police charged seven people, including five priests of Shri Mahalaxmi Temple here for assaulting Bhumata Ranragini Brigade President Trupti Desai at the temple complex on April 13, an official said here on Saturday. The accused five priests are Kedar Muneshwar, Shresh Muneshwar, Mayur Muneshwar, Chaitanya Ashtekar and Nikhil Shanbag, all working at the temple.

Besides, two local Nationalist Congress Party activists Kisan Kalyankar and Jaykumar Shinde and their unidentified supporters have also been named in the FIR lodged by Junarajwada Police Station here.

The incident happened on the evening of last Wednesday, April 13, when Desai and her supporters arrived at the temple attempting to enter the sanctum sanctorum where women devotees are banned. "The accused and their supporters willfully and illegally attempted to stop them, pushed them around, sprayed turmeric, kumkum powder and ink on them, posing a physical threat to them," an official said. The accused are also charged with attempts to prevent the police from doing their duty and roughing up the police personnel at the temple premises, a report of which has been sent to the local court. Shortly after the incident, an injured Desai was shifted to a hospital and remained in ICU for over two days before being discharged on Friday.

Later, the temple priests denied they assaulted Desai and claimed that they were trying to reason with her on the temple traditions and dress code which she and supporters had allegedly violated. On its part, the Bhumata Ranragini Brigade (BRB) said the temple priests' actions were violative of the Bombay High Court order of April 1, which ruled that under the Maharashtra Hindu Place of Worship (Entry Authorization) Act, 1956, women could not be barred from any place of worship.

Following the order, on April 8, the Shani Shingnapur Temple Trust, Ahmednagar, in a historical move, threw open the temple for women devotees where they were banned since over four centuries. The BRB is continuing its campaign for women's entry to the Shree Mahalaxmi Temple in Kolhapur and the Trimbakeshwar Temple in Nashik. IANS

Sena assails BJP over its ties with PDP in J-K

Mumbai

Taking a dig at BJP for its alliance with the PDP in Jammu and Kashmir, Shiv Sena on Saturday said the ruling party has joined hands with "those responsible for the ouster of Hindu Pandits from the Valley". "It is surprising that those (BJP) who were playing the politics of showing concern towards Hindu Pandits (in J&K) are today in power in the state by joining hands with those who played an important role in the ouster of pandits from the Valley," Sena said in an editorial in party mouthpiece 'Saamana'.

"Yet, Hindus have no place in Jammu and Kashmir today and no attempts are being made to change the situation. It has become a crime to be a Hindu in the country and the Hindus, who are in power, are the biggest enemies of the community," it said.

Pointing towards Home Minister Rajnath Singh's remarks that revenge would be taken for the terrorist attack at the Indian Airforce base in Pathankot, the Sena said that "the day will never come and likewise, nobody will raise a voice to protect Hindus".

It further said terrorist organisations like ISIS and Al-Qaeda are indulging in violence in the name of Islam and threatening Hindus residing in India, yet, there is no one in the country who has the audacity to stand up against these terror elements. "The issue of Ram temple in Ayodhya has quietly been kept on the back burner and there are self-proclaimed Hindutva leaders who make on and off pro-Hindutva statements. But, when it comes to fighting terrorist outfits like ISIS, they cower down," the BJP ally said.-PTI

Husband knives wife to death; injures kin

● VISHAL RAJEMAHADIK
Palghar

Frustration reached a killer level in Nalasopara when a 48-year-old husband knifed his wife to death as she reached late from a function and refused to sweep the floor. In the melee, the daughter-in-law also got severe injuries on her hand and back as she tried to intervene and rescue her mother-in-law. While the wife died on the spot, the daughter-in-law is recuperating in a hospital and the cops have taken the accused in the custody.

On Thursday evening, at around 9:30 pm, Ranjana Sawant, 42, reached home late from her scheduled time after attending a function organized in her locality. Rajesh Sawant, 48, who works as a driver, reached home in the meantime and had washed his clothes and was about to go off to bed when he requested his wife to clean the floor. This is when their argument started and he assaulted her verbally. Then, in a fit of rage, he went to the kitchen, armed himself with a kitchen knife and assaulted her brutally, killing her on the spot. While this ruckus was going on, their daughter-in-law, Aruna Sawant, intervened and tried to save her mother-in-law, but was also assaulted brutally. According to sources, there was also an ongoing divorce dispute among the couple which could have been the reason behind this murder.

619 tribal students miss out on scholarship!

● SURESH GOLANI
Mumbai

At a time when the government speaks of encouraging more tribals to educate their children and render financial assistance to them, the Mira Bhayandar Municipal Corporation (MBMC) has been apathetic towards this endeavour.

In a shocking revelation, hundreds of poor students belonging to the tribal community in the twin-city, have remained deprived of scholarships since the past six years. To mark the state completing 50 years of establishment, the state government floated the "Golden Jubilee Pre-Matric Scholarship" in 2010. As per the funding pattern of the ambitious programme, tribal students from class I to X whose parents' income is below Rs 1.08 lakh per annum, were entitled to get a scholarship of Rs 1,000 per month. Application forms of the pre-matric scholarship beneficiaries were to be submitted online by principals of educational institutions to the respective project officers of the tribal welfare wing.

However, for the past six years not even a single student from this region has been able to avail the scholarship. Blaming the MBMC for its insensitive attitude which had been depriving the poor students of their much-needed scholarships, Balamr Bhoir of Shramjivi Sangathan has demanded reimbursement of entire six-year-old dues from the civic administration. A charge vehemently denied by the education department. To procure scholarship, duly filled forms along with requisite documents in support of the claims have to be submitted. However, in almost all cases mandatory certificates were missing due to which forms could not be loaded on the official website," claims education officer Suresh Deshmukh. Around 619 students from various tribal hamlets including Mashapada, Versova, Chena, Dachulpada, Bhabhicha Ghat, Mahajan Wadi, Kajupada, Ghodbunder and Kashlimi are enrolled with the MBMC-run schools.
